THE CAUCASIANS.

The Supreme Encampment of the Order, which met at Sacramento last week, elected the following officers for the ensuing term:

Supreme Chief, John Greenwell, of Amador; Supreme Master of the Rolls, P. S. Dorney, of Sacramento; Supreme Constable, Thos. Loyd, of Nevada; Supreme Warden, Samuel Croce, of Butte; Supreme Treasurer, W. H. Crowell, of Sacramento; Supreme Secretary, W. B. G. Keller, of Sacramento; Supreme Sentinel, H. A. Williams, of Tehama. Council of This Year—Supreme Chief Councilor, H. L. McWilliams, of Sacramento; Supreme Councilors—G. W. Kybren, of Placer; C. S. Lancaster, of San Francisco; Alex. Simms, Jr., and W. H. Totten, of Grass Valley; J. R. Aull, of Woodland; S. B. Davenport, of Nevada City; G. J. Brown, of Biggs; Station, J. Steinmetz, of Sutter Creek; E. Follet, of Yolo; N. T. Cutler, of San Francisco; W. B. McClellan, of Sacramento; C. Walker, of Chico. Master of the Outpost, Eugene Redding, of Woodland.

The Commune of Laeken, Belgium, has decided that a hand-organ is not a nuisance. A little man named Torco keeps a public house, and occasionally gives dancing parties in the dining room, the orchestra comprising one organ grinder. The neighbors could not sleep, and finally sought relief from the Courts. The local magistrate took the part of the beer seller, on the ground that it was impossible to treat as a nuisance that which is the simple result of the exercise of a calling within its due limits; that such a noise ought to be tolerated in a large town; and that the tavern keeper who gives balls in his establishment, and closes at the usual hour, is strictly within his right. Upon the appeal of the public officer, this decision was reversed. Torco appealed in his turn to the Tribunal of Louvain, and won his point. The learned Judges decided in effect that the neighbors, as a rule, went to bed too early.

A RESIDENT of Knightstown, Indiana, after eating opium for ten years, wandered into a hotel in New Orleans recently, and committed suicide by boring a hole in his neck with a penknife and cutting the jugular vein with a pair of surgeon's scissors. The confessions of this opium eater have a terrible significance: "God only knows how I have fought this terrible habit, but whenever it gets hold of the system it is too late. God pity the opium eater! Am almost past going now. The opium habit was contracted more than ten years ago, though not confirmed until about eight years since. I then began to fight it with the desperation that almost crazed me, and when nearly well would become discouraged and go back again. No man had a dearer wife and family than I had—a better wife and children. I cannot recall my life."

"My son," said Mr. X., kindly to his youthful heir, "accustom yourself to be polite to the porter, the servant girl, the coachman, to all the servants; thus you will come in time to be courteous to all people, even to your parents."

TRAIN STOPPED BY WIND.—Accounts of railroad trains being stopped by the snow are not an unusual occurrence, but we now hear of another manner in which the weather interferes with trains, as witness this from the Sioux City Journal of the 20th: "The Sioux City & St. Paul train did not get in yesterday until between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The trouble was not snow. It was wind. Above St. James the train was completely stalled. By double tripping the train was got to St. James, where it was abandoned until morning, when the storm so far abated as to permit a resumption of the journey. Trains going the other way just scooted."

THERE was great excitement around the den of the bears on the 1st of February at the Jardin des Plantes, Paris. A nurse held a boy of five on the railing that he might see the animals and accidentally let him drop. The spectators all thought that the bears would have attacked the child, but they refrained. It was necessary that some one should descend into the pit to withdraw him, but only one man volunteered. He was lowered by a rope under the armpits and withdrew the boy without molestation. His courage was rewarded by profuse felicitations, but he escaped without giving his name.

At Wotton, near Bath, in England, William Packer was working in a barn with his two sons. One of them, named Francis, 13 years of age, had incurred his father's displeasure by not getting up sufficiently early, and had been remonstrated with. He had, however, shown no signs of temper. The father and the elder son left the barn for the purpose of going to dinner, expecting Francis would follow; but the youth was found hanging to a beam quite dead.

A LOCAL custom at Pratz Mollo, in the French Pyrenees, has long allowed men to take the hats from the heads of women at balls, or, in the absence of hats, to disorder their hair in case they dance with others after previously engaging themselves. A young man was lately sued by a young girl for assault, for having pulled off her chignon, but the Police Justice dismissed the case on the ground of usage. An appeal to a higher tribunal, however, resulted in a condemnation to damages.

AN INCH OF RAIN.—We presume presume but few have a clear understanding as to just how an inch of rain is measured. In every acre of land there are 6,272,640 square inches; so that an inch in depth of rain on an acre yields 6,272,640 cubic inches of water, which, at 277,274 cubic inches to the gallon, makes 22,622.5 gallons, or 226,225 pounds, equal to 100,000 tons, nearly 101,000 tons per acre. Therefore, for every 100th of an inch a ton of water falls per acre.

"BENJAMIN!" shouted Mrs. Toodles to her husband, who was going out the gate, "bring me up five cents' worth of snuff when you come."
"Snuff? Mrs. Toodles, snuff?" he ejaculated, as he paused with his hand on the latch. "No, no, Mrs. Toodles; the times are too hard to admit of such extravagance; you must tickle your nose with a straw, when you want to sneeze."

Wm. A. Wheeler, then Vice President elect, Senator and Mrs. Sherman, Senator and Mrs. Boutwell, Senator Sharon, Senator Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Creswell, Chief Justice and Mrs. Waite, General and Mrs. Mitchell, Colonel and Mrs. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris, Mr. U. At Albany, Oregon, a few days ago, a bag of arsenic was found fastened to the court house pump in such a way that all water drawn from the pump would have to percolate the bag and be infected with the poison. One of the principal schools in the city draws its supply of water entirely from that pump, so that, had the danger not been discovered in time, there would have been widespread sickness, if not death, among the young people.

COLONEL GREY, Chief Engineer of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has presented to the Academy of Sciences of San Francisco fresh-water bivalve, fossil and marine shells from the Colorado Desert. They were presented with some remarks by that gentleman, in which he said they had been found at a point over two hundred feet below the level of the sea. This is another evidence of that desert having been an arm of the main.

PRESIDENT HAYES!

"THE TIME HAS COME!"

SO SAYS PRESIDENT HAYES
IN HIS INAUGURAL.

The Time for Peace and Prosperity in the South.

And For a Genuine Civil Service Reform.

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM OUR NEW CHIEF MAGISTRATE.

NO SOUND CURRENCY WHICH IS NOT BASED ON COIN.

Party Fidelity Must be Made Subordinate to Patriotism.

THE GRAND INAUGURATION IN WASHINGTON YESTERDAY.

At 10 o'clock yesterday President Hayes accompanied by his son and Senator Sherman left the residence of the Senator for the Executive Mansion, where he was met and cordially greeted by ex-President Grant, who was in waiting to escort the new President to the Capitol. There was also present the Vice President elect and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. The party adjourned to the Blue Parlor and passed some time in conversation. In the meantime the grand inaugural pageant that had gathered at Washington Circle in the west end of the city, about a mile distant from the White House, started with flying banners and bands of music. Lieut. Grant in field uniform and Colonel Amos Webster of the militia of the District, special aids to the President, reported at the Executive Mansion that the procession was approaching. The carriage of ex-President Grant in which four horses were harnessed was, of course, exceedingly conspicuous in the line. Though very distant from the front, it was the first object of attraction, and its occupants were hailed with continuous cheers. The colored companies were assigned a prominent place. The right of the line was held by Government troops. The Columbus Cadets had the next honor. The Treasury building was alive with spectators, every window being filled, and three-fourths of the spectators were ladies.

Gen. Sherman and other prominent army officers say that considering the very short time for preparation, the parade was most creditable.

IN THE CAPITOL.

Holders of cards of admission to the Capitol thronged the approaches to the Senate for a long time before the doors were opened, and within a minutes after eleven the Senate galleries were filled to their utmost capacity. Mrs. Hayes, wife of the President, occupied a seat in the private gallery, next to the Diplomatic gallery. Her little son Scott sat on her left and Mrs. Senator Sherman on her right. Miss Fannie Hayes and Mrs. Stanley Matthews occupied seats beyond Mrs. Sherman, together with several other personal friends of Mrs. Hayes from Ohio. The diplomatic gallery was occupied by Lady Thornton and the other ladies of the diplomatic corps. The remaining galleries also presented a brilliant appearance. The greater number of the Senate, excepting the seats reserved for the Presidential party, Supreme Court and diplomatic corps, was crowded with Senators and Senators elect, members of the House of Representatives, and other distinguished personages entitled to its privileges. Among the latter were General Sherman and Major General Hancock and Terry, in full uniform and attended by members of their respective staffs.

A BRILLIANT GATHERING.

About a quarter before 12 o'clock the foreign ministers and secretaries and attaches of legations entered the Senate chamber, headed by Sir Edward Thornton, Dean of the diplomatic corps, and took their seats, the two front rows of Senators' chairs on the right. All the Ministers and most of their attendants were in full diplomatic uniform, resplendent with gold and silver embroidery, and glittering with orders and decorations. Besides Sir Edward Thornton, Baltholdi, the French Minister, Count Hayes, Austrian Minister, and Baron Blanc, Italian Minister, were especially noticeable.

THE PROCESSION.

In the procession were the following: The President and Vice President elect, with citizens on foot. On either side of the carriages came the civil part of the procession in three divisions, the first, under command of Colonel Timothy Lubre, embracing citizens and officials on horseback and on foot. The display was imposing. After these came the fifth division marshalled by Arthur Shepherd. It was headed by five bands of music and contained the following political associations: Young Men's Republican Club of the District of Columbia, Hartranft Club of Philadelphia, National Veteran Club, Grand Army of the Republic, German Republican Club, Republican Club of Maryland, Republican organizations of the District of Columbia; the sixth division, marshaled by Heaton, and composed of associations of the State of Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Michigan, and the central association of States, all of which have headquarters here, filled in; fire department of the district closed the procession, which was fully forty minutes passing the Executive Mansion. The pageant was in every respect worthy of admiration, which assuredly it received.

The weather, raw and cloudy when the procession started, became quite cheerful as the day advanced, and when the Capitol was reached by the procession the sun was shining brightly.

We regret that we cannot give the President's

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Entire, but will epitomize it: He renewed the pledge made in his letter of acceptance; hoped for the permanent pacification of the country upon such principles and by such measures as will secure the protection of all citizens; felt that the time had come for peace and prosperity to reign in the South; is anxious to use all legitimate means to bring this about; desired to see a united country, free from sectional or partisan bias, or color line; sees the necessity of a reform in our civil service; recommended an amendment to the Constitution prescribing a term of six years for the Presidential office and forbidding a re-election; adheres to the views advocating Congressional legislation in behalf of an early resumption of specie payments, and is satisfied that this is wise and the interests of the country imperatively demand it; favors non-interference in foreign complications; thought it was an occasion of general rejoicing, and closed by urging all to unite with him in securing peace, blessing and prosperity to the entire country, that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety, may be established among us for all generations.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Boston

Mirror says that on the 23d, Dan. Coughlin came to the Delta saloon, id Belleville with a shot-gun and threw the front door open and killed Wm. Grover by firing the contents of the gun into his back while the latter was entering the back room of the saloon. Grover fell forward on his face, and when John Nelson went to his assistance, he had expired. Coughlin went direct to the Justice's office and gave himself up to the constable, and is now in custody. These men had a fight a few days previous, and it is thought some threats made by the deceased led to the shooting.

A QUEENSLAND diver last year succeeded in recovering a box containing $45,000 in gold from a wreck which was haunted by sharks, attracted there by the corpses of the crew. The Colonial Admiralty Court awarded him $15,000 as salvage, but the owners of the gold appealed against the award as excessive. The Judicial Committee to which the case was referred dismissed the appeal, and the daring diver obtained his money.
